We would like to welcome you to our Community DRR Resource Centre Hulu Kelang. At this Centre you will learn about disaster risk reduction (DRR) and why and how communities can protect themselves from and prepare for disasters such as landslides and floods.

Function of the Community DRR Resource Centre

With future disasters expected due to the impacts of climate change and changes in land use, the Resource Centre serves to:

-  Provide a communal space for learning about the physical environment within the community
-  Build local capacity through training
-  Provide access to science-based material and resources
-  Serve as a meeting place for discussions and dialogues between technical agencies and communities

The DRR Gallery features informative explanations on disasters, key concepts in DRR, and what actions you can take to start a DRR program in your community.
